THE MERRY WIDOW

The goings-on amongst the inhabitants at the Parisian embassy of the fictional principality of Pontevedro are lively, to say the least: flirting at parties and balls, liaisons between couples not necessarily married to each other and a scheme afoot by the ambassador to marry off the wealthy widow, Anna Glavari, to a Pontevedrian citizen to save the country from bankruptcy. The show sparkles like a glass of champagne; the ladies lead the men a merry dance and the music features favourites such as Vilia, You'll Find Me at Maxim's and The Merry Widow Waltz.
